Madagascar – The Island Ark

Croaking Frogs

Hawaii – Isles of Extinction

Orang-utan – Just Hanging On

WhaleSong

Madagascar has some of the world's most unique animals but over 100 species that live here are on the edge of extinction. The amazing 'dancing' Sifika. The Gremlin like Aye Aye. Chameleons, Spiders, Radiated Tortoises and the recently discovered Golden Bamboo Lemur are all battling for survival. We meet the amazing people who are working to save their wildlife before it's too late. View Screener on YouTube : <https://youtu.be/F00I9mouQzM>

Frogs are suffering the biggest mass extinction since the demise of the dinosaur. The devastating cause of their ongoing extinction has now been uncovered, and it has astounded scientists the world over. Humanity is on the brink of a revolution in pharmaceuticals that has the potential to free us from the scourge of hitherto incurable diseases. But the source of much of this potential medicine, the humble frog. View Screener on YouTube : <https://youtu.be/yCWiz1scFZc>

Hawaii, the island playground to the rich and famous, is paying a high price for its popularity. Many of Hawaii's unique plants and animals are under threat from habitat destruction, development, pollution and perhaps worst of all, alien pests. We investigate a gruesome disease killing the region's green sea turtles, and in a magical moment witness the birth of a Hawaiian monk seal pup.

On Kalimantan we join a dedicated group of locals and international volunteers fighting to save the critically endangered Orangutan. We visit a rehabilitation centre in Borneo where confiscated pets are prepared for release back into the wild. At the San Diego Zoo we watch open-heart surgery on a baby Orangutan. At the Perth Zoo we see the only filming of an Orangutan giving birth. The birth sequence watched by over 1 million viewers on YouTube View Screener on YouTube https://youtu.be/yOi\_r842UgY

This documentary takes you to a magic place, a special place where humpbacks mate and give birth. We journey to the West Coast of Australia aboard 'WhaleSong' the Catamaran home to a team of researchers as they gather data to help save the fragile Humpback Whale population. We watch as a mother teaches her youngster how to breach. We also witness something never before filmed a cow in labour, attended by a male midwife. View Screener on YouTube <https://youtu.be/57Lb6rYuKJ0>

Before It's Too Late endangered species wildlife series

Whale Shark – Gypsy of the Deep

Whale sharks are the biggest fish in the ocean but they remain an enigma. Despite their enormous size very little is known about their life cycle and migratory habits. Unless something is done to save the Whale shark it may soon become extinct. Despite a rise in eco-tourism we ask why some cultures continue to dine on Whale shark meat.

Slated for Production

Around 120 endangered species were featured in our multi award winning Before It's Too Late wildlife series. Before It's Too Late - Revisited goes back and looks at how well, or not some of those species are doing. We also look at new species that have become critically endangered in the last few years including the Tasmanian Devil one of only a few remaining carnivorous marsupial species on the planet, and it's on the brink of extinction because of a mystery disease that's decimating the wild population.
